DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the 'through openings within the groups having different diameters and/or rib widths' (cl. 13) must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

Art Unit: 3723

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 6, 13 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 6, what does 'elements' refer to? All the elements? Which elements imparticular? What are 'some regions'? This is indefinite and not clearly defining the limitation. Claim 13, 'diameter' is in reference to the cross-sectional area? This is unclear since the openings have not been defined as being circular.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-11, 14 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kasabian-3,840,762, alone.

Kasabian discloses a power tool (20) having a housing (22) with a coolant duct (112) having round openings for a cooling medium to enter and cool motor, the duct consisting of a plate attached to housing (22), wherein at least one element (34) has rounded edges, wherein the openings are located in rows and columns separated by ribs of equal width. Kasabian does not disclose the exact diameter or depth of the openings. However, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at time invention was made to form the openings within the claimed range of 0.15-10mm² since it has been held where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 12, 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kasabian in view of Potter et al.-6,296,427.

Kasabian teaches the invention as detailed above, but does not show groupings of openings with different diameters (or cross sections). However, Potter teaches a hand powered tool having cooling means comprising openings combined in groups (62,64) having openings of varying cross section. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at time invention was made to provide Kasabian with spaced groupings of openings, as shown by Potter, since both arrangements appear to work equally well for cooling a motor and would be within the level of ordinary skill in the art.
